It's getting festive in here...

The end of November is upon us and there is less than a month before Christmas Eve. Are you ready? Do you still have boxes of garland, ornaments and tangled lights staring at you, waiting to be inspected, sorted and detangled?

Sounds like it's time for you to call the Genies! There is still time for you to book your holiday service. We will pull out your decorations, inspect for damage, help you decide what should be used, replaced or discarded and then we will transform your home into the winter wonderland of your dreams.

Holiday gift giving tip

Find yourself in a rut with thinking of the perfect gift for your loved ones?

Instead of giving the gift of things (which equals the gift of clutter), give the gift of organization. This is a gift that keeps giving. This is the gift that will make your loved ones fall in love with their home again.

The end of clutter starts with your gift!

New collaboration you won't want to miss out on...

You've decluttered your closet and you have the perfect organizing system set up. Now what? Do you feel the need to buy some new, fresh clothes? Do you feel like you have nothing in your closet that excites you now? Instead of buying new clothes, what if you were able to use what you already have to create a new, fresh look?

We are happy to introduce you to Emily Konig. Emily is a wardrobe stylist and creative who loves helping women look and feel good in their own clothes. Most people don't realize how much potential there is in their own closet. She helps women reimagine and appreciate the closet they already have while identifying and focusing their personal style to encourage them to make more intentional purchases going forward..

What's involved in a styling session:

- 1 hr virtual or in-person consult
- Fresh take on your wardrobe; rethink and reimagine what you already own
- 10-15 new outfits ideas
- 3-5 specific purchase recommendations to fill in the gaps in your closet and give your existing closet more versatility
- Access to a digital style profile where you can reference, "like", and comment on your outfits and what your favorites are
